

UNIT 6: Which Kermit the Frog (puppet) best represents how you are feeling at the END of today's Group Chat?

Image Credit: Unknown

Image Description: A grid of 9 photos of the puppet character Kermit the Frog, who is a Muppet in U.S. TV shows (e.g., The Muppet Show and Sesame Street) and movies (e.g., The Muppets Take Manhattan).

Kermit Image 1: Kermit is covering his eyes with one of his hands and looking away. It looks like he is dabbing, a motion used to signify celebration.

Kermit Image 2: Kermit is proudly waving a rainbow flag (a rainbow flag is a multi-colored flag consisting of stripes in the colors of the rainbow; a rainbow flag is displayed in many cultures as a sign of diversity and inclusiveness).

Kermit Image 3: Kermit is seated on a sofa eating a bag of popcorn (eating popcorn is often used as a meme "to indicate a feeling of amusement while witnessing a drama or argument unfold").

Kermit Image 4: Kermit is lying on his stomach, kicking back his legs, and leaning on his hand as he looks calmly at a laptop screen.

Kermit Image 5: Kermit is relaxing in bed reading from a large booklet titled "Reasons to Live."

Kermit Image 6: Kermit is sitting in front of a large mirror, resting his hand against the glass of the mirror so that his hand and his hand's reflection are touching.

Kermit Image 7: Kermit is lying under the sheets in bed with a large, happy, open-mouthed smile.

Kermit Image 8: Kermit is on fire while lying prone.

Kermit Image 9: Kermit is lying against white fabric with one hand touching his face and one hand resting against a flower crown on his head.
